

World Cup 2010 - Take on the Quants

Quants at Goldman Sachs and JP Morgan have modeled the likely outcomes of the 2010 World Cup. Can you do better?

$100 · 7 years ago

OverviewDataDiscussionRulesLate Submission

Competition Data

EditFIFA_country_codes.c...FIFA_country_codes.csv 1.08 KBDownloadworld_cup_data.csv

Data Description

We have provided a small dataset including: FIFA rankings back to 1994, countries' historical records, continent and host country information.

You are welcome to augment the dataset. Here are some links to data that might be helpful:

Betting market data - <http://www.oddschecker.com/football/internationals/world-cup/world-cup/world-cup/win-market/>

Elo ratings - <http://www.eloratings.net/world.html>

Salary data - http://sports.yahoo.com/soccer/blog/sow_experts/post/The-top-50-footballer-salaries-this-season?urn=sow,220011

Historical World Cup data - <http://www.fifa.com/worldcup/archive/germany2006/statistics/index.html>

Socioeconomic data - <http://data.worldbank.org/data-catalog>

We encourage you to share data on the competition's forum.